

BROMPTON EXPIENCES

China - KUN MING

Cycling a Brompton through Kunming and on to Dali is one of those journeys that quietly reshapes your sense of travel. In Kunming, wide lakeside paths and tree-lined boulevards make city riding calm and surprisingly spacious, with the climate living up to its name as the “Spring City.”

Folding the Brompton for trains or cafés feels effortless before unfolding again on open roads. Dali slows the rhythm entirely. Riding along Erhai Lake, with the Cangshan Mountains in the distance and villages appearing at an unhurried pace, the Brompton becomes more than a bike - it is a companion for seeing Yunnan up close.
