Taiwan - HUALIEN 2026

Eastern Taiwan moves at a different pace. Away from the cities, the roads open up, the mountains rise sharply from the valley floor, and the Pacific sits quietly at the edge of every coastal view. Hualien and the East Rift Valley are where Taiwan's most celebrated cycling routes live, quiet rural roads winding past golden rice fields, traditional villages, and dramatic landscapes that remind you why people travel all the way here just to ride.

This tour follows Taiwan's eastern corridor from Hualien down through Ruisui, Chishang, and on to Taitung, covering over 200km of some of the most scenic cycling paths in Asia. Every stage is a little different, and every stop has something worth slowing down for.
