April - June (Spring Summer)	April welcomes the start of tulip season, with temperatures ranging from 6°C to 14°C. You'll experience cool mornings and mild afternoons, often with a mix of sunshine and light showers. A light jacket, umbrella, and layered clothing are essential for this month. (8pm sunset) May brings longer daylight hours and more stable weather. Temperatures average between 9°C and 18°C. Gardens and parks are in full bloom, and it's a fantastic time for cycling and outdoor activities. You'll still want to carry a light raincoat—occasional spring showers can still surprise you. (8.30pm sunset) June, early summer sets in with warmer days (12°C to 21°C on average), lush green landscapes, and generally more sunshine. Rain is still possible, but less frequent, and you'll enjoy ideal conditions for touring cities, countryside rides, and canal-side strolls. (9.30pm sunset)
Sep - Oct (Autum)	September still carries the warmth of late summer, with average temperatures ranging from 12°C to 20°C. It's a lovely time for cycling along canals, visiting outdoor markets, and enjoying café terraces. While the days are generally mild and pleasant, expect the occasional rain shower—so a light waterproof jacket is a smart companion. (7.15 pm Sunset) By October, autumn is in full swing. Temperatures drop to around 8°C to 15°C, and the Dutch landscape transforms into a canvas of reds, oranges, and yellows. Rain becomes more frequent, so good layering and a windproof jacket are advisable. (6.30 pm Sunset)
